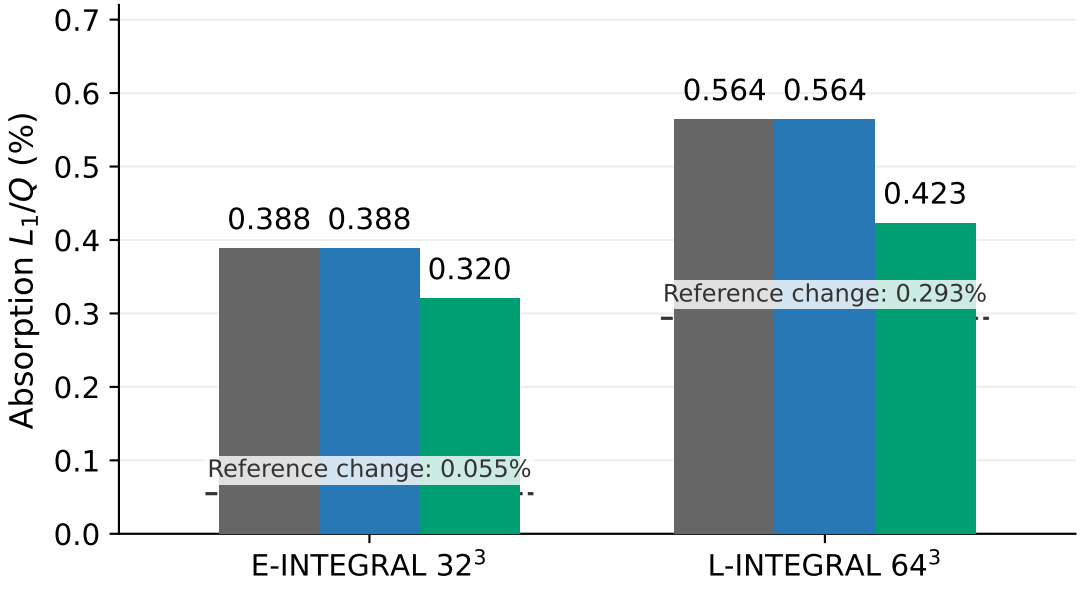
Accuracy and cost of photon-conservation updates

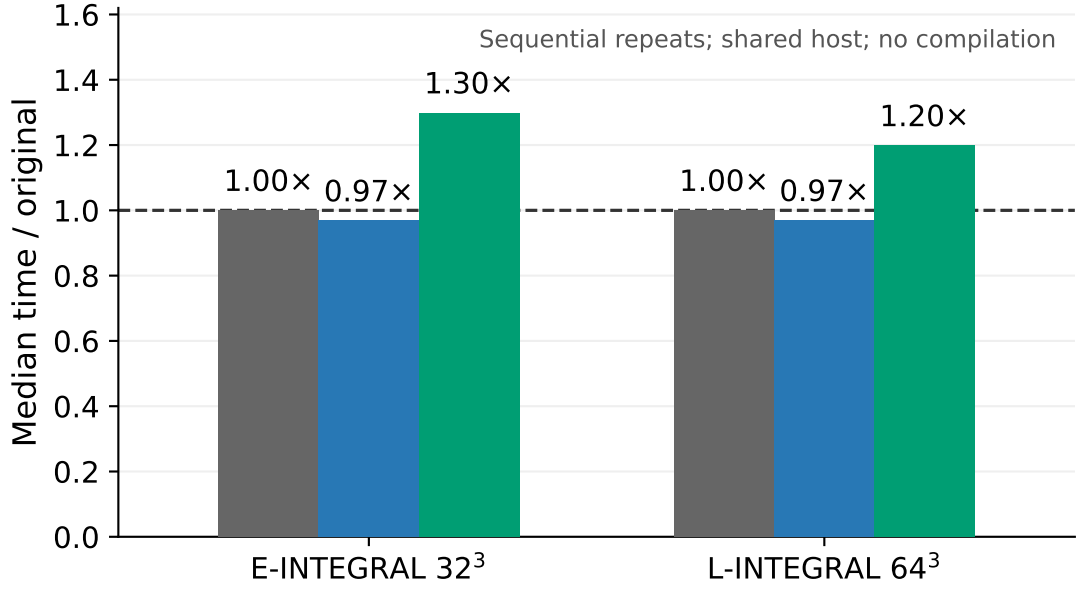
Native panels: initially neutral, frozen source fields; same photon budget

Original Compact: same rays Compact: +25% angles

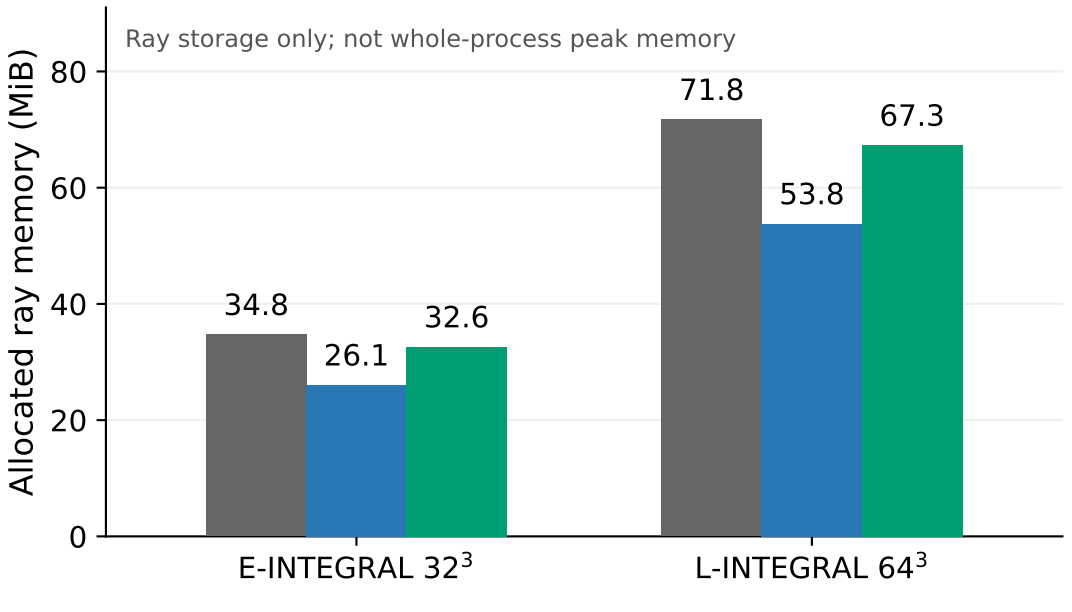
A Difference from high-angle voxel reference



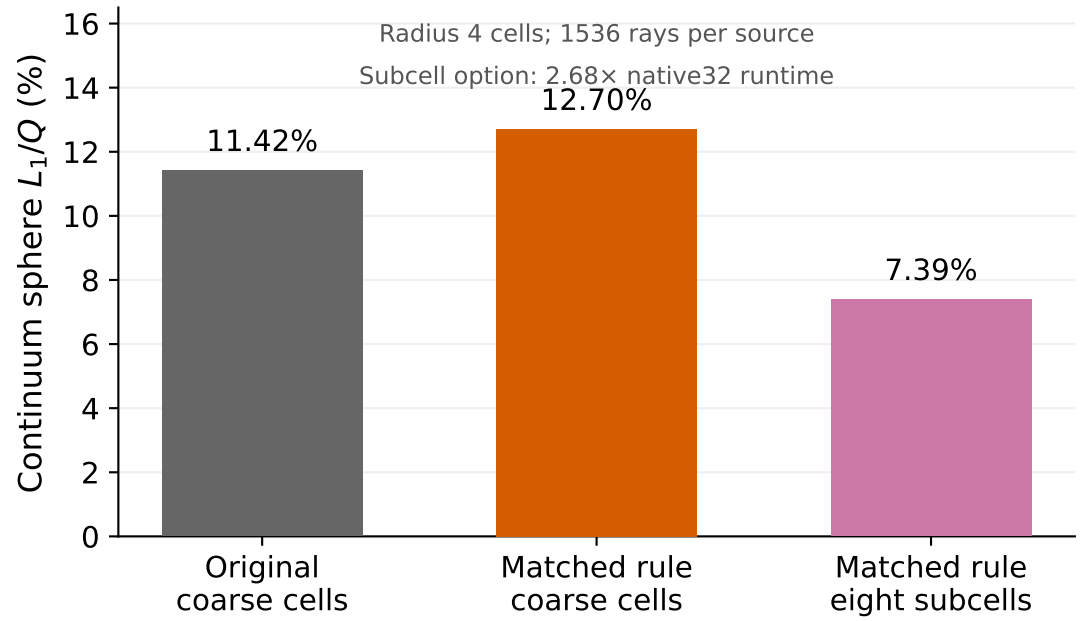
B Runtime at the same source field



C Ray memory at the measured accuracy



D Spatial error: separate analytic sphere test



Native angular errors and continuum spatial errors have different references.
The two native fixtures are not a spatial-resolution convergence sequence.